

BULLET MEANT FOR THE GYPSIES HIT MISS ROGERS

School's Bad Marksmanship Lands Him in Jail to Await Result of Her Injuries.

IS LIKELY TO RECOVER.

The Nomads Had Attacked and Wrecked School's Saloon Before He Fired at Them.

The quality of the marksmanship of Jacob Schor, a saloon-keeper at Wyckoff and Putnam avenues, Queens Borough, was tested to-day at the expense of Annie Rogers, of No. 137 Wyckoff avenue, who is in the Eastern District Hospital, Williamsburg, suffering from a bullet wound in the abdomen.

Schor wasn't shooting at her, but he reached her with a bullet. He was firing at a crowd of seven men, distant half a block from the point where Rogers was occupying a rooming place.

A band of gypsies has been encamped in the woods near Schor's saloon for several days. The male members of the little colony of nomads went in a body to Schor's house of call last night and fought freely. A dispute arose over the payment for some drinks. Schor, with the aid of his bartender and some friends, ejected the gypsies.

The strangers retired to their camp and held a council. At an early hour to-day they advanced upon Schor's saloon, armed with stones, improvised battering rams and a couple of axes. They broke all the windows of the place with the stones, battered in the door with axes and then set to work to demolish the interior. Bar mirrors, gas fixtures, bottles, liquids, glassware, chairs and tables were reduced to wreckage when Schor, who lives in rooms over the saloon, reached the centre of disturbance. At the sight of him the gypsies ran.

It happened that Miss Rogers and her mother, bound toward their home, were passing on the opposite side of the street. They stopped to observe the excitement. Schor, with drawn revolver, ran to the sidewalk. The gypsies were just a block away, running in a bunch, and glancing visible in the bright moonlight. Holding his revolver, Schor fired.

Miss Rogers, at right angles to his line of aim, dropped with a scream, while the gypsies, hearing their camp jumped into the weapons, to which they had already hit their horses, and drove away.

A policeman from the Ridgewood station arrested Schor. He was taken before Judge Connon in Flushing Police Court to-day, and held to await the result of Miss Rogers' injury.

The young woman will probably recover.

"BROKE" SO HE BROKE INTO HOUSE FOR PELF

Merry Burglar's Pun Rewarded in Court with Hint That Jars Humor Out of Him.

When Nat Collier, a young negro, was arraigned in the Fifth Avenue Court, Brooklyn, to-day, charged with breaking into the home of Mrs. Ogden Gurnea, at Eighth street and Twentieth avenue, Bath Beach, last night, while the family was absent, he seemed to consider the burglary a great joke.

He laughed until he doubled up, disregarding the furious hammering of the auctioneer's gavel.

CITY BONDS SOLD TO MORGAN ARE DECLARED LEGAL

Corporation Counsel Upholds the $30,000,000 Issue of Last October.

NO TIME LIMIT IN LAW.

City's Legal Adviser Says the Bonds Are Issued Against Uncollected Taxes.

Corporation Counsel Pendleton to-day set at rest any question concerning the legality of the issue of $30,000,000 bonds which the city sold to J. Pierpont Morgan last October to relieve its finances.

Mr. Pendleton gave out an opinion in which he said that the Corporation's power was not confined to levying bonds against the unpaid taxes for the particular year in which the bonds were issued, but that he had the power to issue them against uncollected taxes of previous years in order to pay appropriations made for the year in which the taxes were levied. He declared, too, that if a set of the taxes are not actually paid in a subsequent year, they are none the less an anticipated revenue so long as they are unpaid.

"It seems to be clear also," adds the Corporation Counsel, "that so far as the law is concerned there is no particular limit of time for which money may be borrowed on revenue bonds. The Constitution recognizes that revenue bonds need not necessarily be made payable within any short period of time. I find no statute limiting the time as to the city of New York, and thus it seems that the question of the maturity of a revenue bond is one of business judgment and discretion to be exercised by the Corporation."

Before entering upon the special $30,000,000 bond transaction, Corporation Counsel asked the Corporation Counsel for an opinion as to the validity of such a step, and was informed of his power to do so by the Corporation Counsel.

He then announced that he was taking in anticipation of the collection of which the bonds were issued.

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, Dec. 25.—The American torpedo boat flotilla sailed to-day for Para on its way to the Pacific.

A regatta in the morning was watched with keen interest by the officers of the fleet. All ships were dressed and decorated. Many of the officers spent the day ashore sightseeing. At one time 100 were between 6:00 and 7:00 on the beach on shore. Their behavior has been excellent.
